

2009 WCS Congress Bill 132

October 29, 2009 - Introduced by congressmen Puccio, Larson & Sheer

Co-sponsored by madam speaker Gerber,

Referred to the Committee on Education

This seeks to improve the overall education of our nation

The Sophomore Class of Woods Charter School, represented in this Senate, do enact as follows:

1. The focus of education should be centered more around critical thinking and less about the regurgitation of facts.
2. A fraction of institutions attention should be diverted towards adept and inept learners.
3. Grades will be apportioned into two categories, intelligence - understanding reason in a subject and diligence - hardworking on a subject.
4. In order to appropriately educate the bell curve of intelligence, school districts will possess ranging difficulties, each school will be divided into two sections placing students by intellectual capacities.
